The New York Store. [Established 1853.]

ANOTHER FRUITFUL FRIDAY. ELEVENTH DAY OF THE "ANNEX" SALE.

Another lucky Friday. Another avalanche of prices. Another day of great value-giving. Another day of little prices. Another day of pleased buyers and busy sellers. Not a single item in to-day's list that is not a great bargain. You get more goods for less money at the great store during the Annex Sale than was ever dreamed of before in Indiana-or any place else. Don't procrastinate. You know "procrastination gathers no moss," and the early customer gets the choicest things. Some of these goods will not last till evening. If you fully appreciate the prices, they will not last till 10 o'clock-but come, anyway-there are thousands more bargains than we can tell you about.

We mean Friday to be the biggest Silk day of the year. We have gone straight through the stock for bargains. The following items show what we found. The values are extraordinary, even in a bargain season such as this is.

THE GARBAGE MUDDLE.

President Morrison Attempts a Coup and

There is a time-honored tradition which comes from some part of Ireland about the assemblage of Kilkenny cats, and the story goes that with tails and back hair affare

A similar meeting was held in the private office of the Mayor of this city, yesterday, which was attended by President Conduitt, of the Board of Public Works; President Morrison and Dr. Maxwell, of the Board of Public Health; City Prosecutor Bell, J. H. Woodard, the garbage man, and his bondsman, John S. Lazarus, and Mayor Sullivan. It is true that these gentlemen did not remove their wearing apparel and try to gouge each other's eyes out, but they said a very great deal. When complaints first began to come in about the practical working of the "business administration's" latest pet, the garbage ordinance, the city officials shrugged their shoulders and said that with a little time. The complaints began to get more frequent, and the city officials did not say so much about the adjustment of time. Then the administration's own police judge declared that the ordinance was unconstitutional, and the city officials ceased to say anything. They concluded they would just step to one side and allow the men who had the contracts and whose money was at stake to pay all lawyers' bills and stand the brunt of the fight.

This had been decided upon after a consultation between the Mayor and the Board of Public Works. Contractor Woodard had been notified of it, and he, accepting the proposition in as good grace as possible, had made arrangements to precipitate these suits by filing counter ones against the objectors to the contract. That was the state of affairs yesterday morning when the world woke up to its usual vocations.

that would all be remedied and adjusted

In the meantime, the night before, President Morrison, of the Board of Health, had decided to take a hand in the case on his own hook. A great many complaints had reached him of the manner in which the hauling of garbage had been done. The contract called for closed wagons and watertight ones. Pending the times that such wagons could be made, the authorities had agreed to allow the contractor to haul the filth in open ones, providing all barrels or vessels were closed. This had not been done, and Dr. Morrison, with an eye to public comfort, decided that it should be. Consequently, vesterday morning he issued orders to the sanitary police force to arrest every man they could find whose wagons or vessels were not covered. The officers at once went to the entrance to the garbage crematory, and within a few hours had a dozen or more men on their way to the station house. Contractor Woodard heard of this and at once called on Dr. Morrison at the health office. Mr. Woodard was wroth and Dr. Morrison was suave. The former demanded to know why his men had been arrested, and by what right. Dr. Morrison told him, and he then declared that he was being imposed on. He said the city officials knew well enough that he had not been able to get his wagons, and that he expected to use them as soon as he could. He said that the officials were bent on giving him the worst end of the tight that was coming, making him go to the expense of standing the lawhim this way. Dr. Morrison told him that he did not know how much the city was trying to impose on him, but said that he had warned him repeatedly that he must have closed vessels to carry the refuse in, and that now he proposes to have him do it. This did not serve to make Mr. Woodard any calmer, and he remarked that the Doctor knew mighty little about law, to which the president of the Health Board replied that the contractor knew less Woodard then carried his troubles to the office of the Mayor, and told that individ-ual what he thought about Dr. Morrison and all the rest who are interested in the matter. The head of the business administration was between the devil and the deep blue sea. He could not very well censure the head of one of his departments to an outsider, and he wanted to pacify the contractor, or else he might throw up the whole business and proclaim to the world how incompetently the Mayor's deal had Woodard insisted that something be done and it was finally agreed that the Mayor should call a meeting in the afternoon of the members of the boards, the attorneys and the contractors. The meeting commenced at 3 o'clock and it was nearly 6 o'clock when it had finished. It was behind closed doors, with curtains tightly drawn and keyholes stuffed.

Mr. Woodard, however, took the initiative in the meeting. He declared up and down that he was being imposed upon, and that he did not propose to stand it. He asserted that the sanitary officers had arrested his men and had allowed those of private contractors, whose wagons were no better and worse than his, to go. In who has recently come here to reside from | the course of his remarks he said that there were some people who got mightily puffed when they were given a little authority. and that he thought that this was a very good example of it. He referred to Dr. Morrison. This much was arrived at in the meeting. Mr. Woodard agreed to have his covered wagons in use by the 25th of the present month, and until that time he is to have covers on all barrels and other vessels in which the stuff is hauled. Just before the meeting was ended Mr. Woodard asked if the cases were to be notlied in court the ensuing morning. His query was addressed to Mayor Sullivan, but he got his reply from Dr. Morrison. "The cases have gone into court and I do not propose to interfere with them in any way." said the Doctor, as he walked away. It is understood, however, that the Mayor will put a word in Judge Buskirk's ear which will have the effect of those arrested getting off very lightly. Among the charges which were brought against Woodard at the meeting was that he had sublet his contract in many instances, that he was giving the work no personal supervision and was allowing it to go on just as it might so long as he got a revenue from it. He denied that he had been doing so, but several instances had been brought to the notice of the officers, and they stoutly maintained that they were right. One of them was that he had agreed to allow the commission men, who have a great deal of garbage to dispose of, to take it away as they pleased so long as they paid him a royalty of 5 cents a hundred pounds. He denied this emphatically.

Officers Sanborn and Robinson, of the Health Board, made most of the arrests. They stationed themselves at the entrance they came driving in. Their presence there created no little excitement and consternation. A large number of the drivers are colored men, and they had an idea that they were going to be sent to the kingdom of glory or some other remote place.

"Good Lawd!" ejaculated one of them, jumping down from his wagon with his eyes starting out of his head. "Arrested for workin'! Never did hear the like befo'." They were sent to the station house in their own wagons, and the most of them were released on bond at once.

Contractor Woodard was seen yesterday and said that he did not think that he had been treated fairly in the matter, and that he should have been given some notice before his men were arrested. He denied that he had entered into any subcontracts, and said that he was endeavoring to earry out the spirit and the letter of the original

Dr. Morrison said in regard to the affair:
"The wagons in which the garbage has been hauled have been of such a character as to menace the public health, and I did not propose to allow them to be maintained. I have repeatedly warned Mr. Woodard that he must have them changed, but he has not done so, and I thought it best to form of an extemporaneous talk and was feet. He will recover.

enforce it. Since the rendering of the deon the theory that any person has a right to remove garbage, so long as they do it in a proper manner. I am not after Woodard more particularly than any one else, but they all must have closed vehicles." The arrest yesterday of the men engaged in hauling garbage for Contractor Wood-ard caused him to postpone the filing of the injunction suit which he had contemplated doing that morning. The suit will be filed as soon as the present cases have been disposed of. The object in filing the suit in that shape is to give the contractor the advantage, if an injunction is granted, because until the case is heard by court all interested will have to operate under the original law. Should an appeal be taken from the case as filed by the hotel men all would have to go under the ruling of the lower court, Mr. Woodard is confident that he will win the cases, and save he has no fear but he will be hauling garbage until his contract expires.

WOODARD IS ARRESTED.

He Is Immediately Released on Bond-His Collectors Taken In. Contractor Woodard was arrested last night upon the warrant issued on the affidavit of President Morrison, of the Board of Health. He immediately gave bail, and was not taken to the police station.

Fifteen of his men were also arrested, and all of them were immediately released on bond, Woodard becoming surety for their appearance. They are all charged with violating the garbage contract. Will He Abandon the Contract? It was reported last night that contractor Woodard intended to abandon the contract for hauling the garbage, and on the face of the decision given by Judge Buskirk, sue the city for damages. It is said a caucus of Democrats is to be held to devise some means of dropping the garbage contract, for it is seen that the complications which have arisen through the many blunders of the Sullivan administration in the garbage

matter are losing the party votes right

CHAUTAUQUA DAY AT ACTON

Interesting Papers Are Read, Diplomas Granted and Officers Elected.

Mrs. J. D. Gatch Is Chosen President - To-Day's Programme -- Christian Endeavorersat Bethauy-Services at the Camp Meetings.

THE SERVICES AT ACTON. Chautauqua Day Furnishes a Good Programme for the Camp Meeting People. Chautauqua day at Camp Acton was ushered in, yesterday, by a bright morning, and many of the Chautauquans began arriving in buggies early in the morning. Others came by the morning trains. And beside the Chantauquans themselves there were enough visiting friends to make a large attendance at the grounds. The attendance was much the largest of any of the year, except last Sunday. The crowd as well as the success of the day are largely due to the energy of the president, Mrs. Dr. J. D. Gatch, of Lawrenceburg.

After a very interesting programme with the children under the leadership of Miss Anderson, the day was turned over to the Chautauquans. The opening address of the president was full of interest. She spoke briefly and to the point about the needs of scientific thought, and of the powers of concentration and attention, which are to be cultivated by the work their circles are doing. Mrs. F. M. Eliot, of Shelbyville, then gave a very original and entertaining paper on the badly-worn subject of "Columbus." The exercises of the morning were closed by a paper from J. C. Pulse, of Greensburg. In the afternoon the programme was continned with papers from Mrs. Mary Pierce, of Shelbyville, Miss Bettie Cumminger of Greenwood, Rev. J. W. Dashiell and Mrs. John E. Rehme of Indianapolis, Miss Jennie Thompson of Franklin and Mrs. L. W. Gooding, of Greenfield. Many of the pawere greeted by larger crowds than have yet been assembled in the auditorium. The diplomas were then presented to the grad-uates of the year by the president. The graduates included Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Whitehead and Misses Sadie and Lizzie Hall, of Indianapolis, and Miss Emma Donnell, of Greensburg. Miss Donnell's diploma bears six seals, indicative of much extra work and great excellence in it. Musical numbers accompanied the proceedings. Among the numbers was a solo by Mrs. Chidister, of Indianapolis.

At the close of the services several hundred volumes of the Chantauquan were distributed among the people. The members of the C. L. S. C. then went into executive sessish to transact the business. After the usual annual business meeting the election of officers was held, and the following were chosen to serve for the ensuing year: President-Mrs. J. G. Gatch. Vice Pesidents-J. B. McNeely and D. A. Rob-

Recording Secretary-Miss Jennie Thompson. Corresponding Secretary-Miss Maria Coy. Executive Committee-Mrs. Gatch, D. Robinson, Mrs. M. Pierce and M. B. Hyde. All Chautauquans were then requested to register, and of almost fifty on the grounds representatives were found from the circles of Indianapolis, Greensburg, Shelbyville, Greenwood, Lawrenceburg, Franklin and Kingston. Among the non-Chautauquan visitors at the grounds were Messrs. Burlingame and Foxworthy, of Greencastle, Mrs. W. R. Reed, Geo. Gatch and wife, of Indianapolis, Mrs. Barber and daughter. of Cincinnati and Mrs. Adams, of Shelbyville. The extra numbers on the grounds filled the hotel dining room to overflowing. In the evening Miss Musselman, of Cincinnati, gave an elecutionary entertainment. A very large audience of people were entertained for the hour. Altogether the day may be counted the most successful of any. It is the eighth in number, and as there is agitation among the members of building a permanent headquarters, the prospect for future years is very bright. This afternoon Dr. B. F. Rawlins, assist-

Yesterday was a delightfully cool and pleasant day at Bethany. The seats and promenades of the grove were well filled with pleasure seekers, while large audiences listened to the tabernacle lectures. At 9 o'clock Dr. Lucas resumed his lectures on "Our Relation to Denomination." The large number of ministers present testified to the value of these talks. Dr. Lucas also spoke at 3 o'clock. His subject was "The Relation of Ministers to Their Brother Ministers." He spoke of the parallelism in unity of the home and of the church. All to the crematory and secured the men as | ministers of the church are brothers, and hold a family relationship to one another, bound by a tie of blood as well as by a natural tie. Therefore every minister owes something to those engaged in the same work with The question as to what these debts are was then discussed at some length. In conclusion Mr. Lucas summed up that which a minister should feel incumbent upon him as follows: The fellowship of companionship, the necessity of speaking kindly of each other, of helping each other to secure places of labor, of making it as easy us possible for a successor, the avoidance of jealousy, and the necessity of co-

Claude McLaughlin Charges Amos Butter-

field with Rifling a Letter. Claude McLaughlin, living near Broad Ripple, appeared before Commissioner Van Buren yesterday and swore out a warrant against Amos A. Butterfield, his brotherin-law, charging him with opening a registered letter addressed to Mrs. Sarah Me-Laughlin, and confiscating the contents, The sum alleged to have been taken only amounted to about $2, and the date of the alleged crime was somewhere last February. It seems that there has been bad feeling between McLaughlin and his brother-and-law. Butterfield was placed under arrest yesterday, but gave bond.

PAYMENT OF THE PENSIONERS. Local Banks Will Have Money at the Agency at 6 0'Clock.

The Indianapolis bankers held a meeting, yesterday, and decided to cash the checks of the pensioners at the agency according to the plan outlined in the Journal resterday. E. E. Rexford, cashier of the Indianapolis National, has had charge of this work for a long time, and he will take the money to the pension agency this morning. Payment will begin at the agency at o'clock in the morning, and Mr. Rexford will be there at that time with the money which the four banks will send down. The police arrangements for the pensioners will be made as usual.

CITY NEWS NOTES. Marriage licenses were issued yesterday to James McCoy and Mary F. Pearce, Louis Bademan and Margaret Spangler. A small fire in the Palace Hotel, at 107 South lilinois street, did fifteen dollars' worth of damage yesterday morning. Ed Ward, of Aurora, Ill., sends a challenge to this city in which he says he wants to make a running match with any one his age-sixteen years.

Police Superintendent Colbert is in re-cerpt of a communication from the board of trustees and superintendent of the Blind Asylum, thanking the department for the manner in which the officers assisted at the late fire. Dragged Under the Wheels,

Charles Amick, a car inspector employed in the I., D. & S. railroad yards, was quite seriously injured yesterday morning while at work, and was sent to his home at No. 127 Sheffield street, in the city ambulance, He was under a car inspecting the wheels, when the engine bumped against it, throw-
